The French Situation.

DECEMBER 1. NOON.—The official announcement of the withdrawal [illegible] of the Rouvier cabinet was made at the [illegible] of the president. The decision [illegible] to advise the election of M [illegible] the presidency. The party of [illegible] decided not to support any [illegible] candidate. General Fegion, [illegible] of war in the Rouvier cabinet, [illegible] and a grand officer of the [illegible] Honor [illegible] has been made of a revolutionary demonstration in front of the [illegible] of deputies to-day, but they were [illegible] as seniors. Extensive [illegible] and police precautions have been [illegible] however to guard against an [illegible]

PARIS, December 1.—A special to the News from Paris says: It is [illegible] to test the temper of the people at present. The real cause of the bottom of the trouble, are [illegible] run, and it looks as though [illegible]'s efforts to pull down the [illegible] the temple would be frustrated [illegible]. The Rochefort and deputies [illegible] de Roulede have abandoned the [illegible] to overthrow Grevy under [illegible] of wiping out governments! [illegible] scandal. Alarmed by the [illegible] to boost they had given their [illegible] my, Ferry, they are now offering [illegible] support to Grevy. Cler[illegible], disconcerted by the vision of [illegible], has humbled himself. If to [illegible] the president has declined [illegible] promising overtures. The [illegible] are pouring in protests against [illegible] him, and mayors and municipal [illegible] forwarding telegrams saying [illegible] persistence of the radicals would [illegible] the republic. There is now [illegible] the spectacle of many who [illegible] Grevy's bitterest foes during [illegible] two weeks groveling at his [illegible]. Paris is calm, but it is the calm [illegible] unless distrust on the part of the [illegible] and precautions have been [illegible]. The streets are being [illegible] in all directions with posters, [illegible] torn down as fast as possible [illegible]. These read [illegible] of Paris. The republic is in [illegible] Congress is about to name [illegible] successor at Versailles. There [illegible] infamous conspiracy to deliver the [illegible] to Ferry, the famine breeder, to [illegible] the Tonquinois, to Ferry, the [illegible] Bismarck Republicans of all [illegible] socialists or revolutionists, shall [illegible] a crime to be [illegible] forever! [illegible] thousand times, no. Blood must [illegible] again, but we will not refuse [illegible] any sacrifice to save France [illegible] assailed by the meanest [illegible] Citizens, let us be ready [illegible] hopeful, the country is in danger [illegible]

[illegible] His Mind.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—Pr[illegible] Kat-Grevy has informed the ministerial council that in view of the change in the situation, he proposes to make a communication [illegible] ment to-day. M Rouvier will [illegible] this decision of M. Grevy to [illegible] mber of deputies and will again [illegible] the resignation of the cabinet. It [illegible] ed that President Grevy will [illegible] form a new cabinet.

PARIS, December 1 – When the chamber [illegible] assembled M. Rouvier [illegible] that the president had recommended [illegible] ation to send a message to [illegible] the country saying his resignation [illegible] the cabinet had again resigned. The announcement of the action necessary was greeted with [illegible] cheering by members of the [illegible] Boulanger, president of the left [illegible] asked that the sitting be suspended. Members of the right and extreme left commented on this proposal. Count Dion one exclaimed, "Disorder would be preferable."

PARIS, 2 p. m., December 1.—The [illegible] of deputies took recess until [illegible]. Great crowds surround the legislative building but they are orderly [illegible] the presence of a revolutionary [illegible] At the conference between this [illegible] President Grevy informed M. [illegible] was now in his favor and that [illegible] form a new cabinet. When M [illegible] left the Elysee he proceeded [illegible] Palace of the Elysee and had a [illegible] with the president. It is reported [illegible] that M. Floquet is trying to form [illegible]

[illegible] several thousand and [illegible] in Jersey. Cries of "A bas [illegible] and "Vive—Grevy" are [illegible]. Police keep the people [illegible] clearing the approaches to the chambers. The chamber [illegible] at 1 p. m. but further [illegible] until 3 o'clock. The session [illegible] 5 o'clock M. Paul [illegible] leader of the Patriotic [illegible] passed a section of the crowd [illegible] the chamber and gave the crowd [illegible] Grevy and "Vive Boulanger." [illegible] people returned with cries of "A bas [illegible] and "Vive la Republique." The [illegible] assisted the police to clear the [illegible] space between the Palais Bourbon [illegible] quays. The public are refused [illegible] on to the Palais Bourbon.

Grevy and his Ministers.

PARIS, December 1.—A council was held at the Elysee palace this evening. Grevy asked each minister his opinion. All [illegible] him immediate resignation appeared peremptory. Grevy replied that it was the crowds that brought about the existing situation and the chamber must bear the responsibility before the parliament and country. He [illegible] Rouvier not to precipitate the world [illegible] government from the tribune. He [illegible] Rouvier to informally acquaint [illegible] and deputies that his action was taken and to the [illegible] Rouvier was irreconcilable.

Proceedings of the Chamber.

PARIS, December 1.—[illegible] Tirard, leader of deputies, [illegible] clock in waiting the communication promised from the president. When the [illegible] was resumed at 8 o'clock [illegible] was [illegible] with applause from both left and center. It was carried by a vote of 521 to [illegible]. M. Rouvier then returned to the palace to communicate to M. Grevy the result of the vote. It is reported that when he informed M. Grevy that the cabinet was suspended the president replied that the ministers having resigned could not be charged with any communication to the chamber. M. Rouvier has freely expressed the opinion that the president will only resign under the pressure of a hostile manifestation by the chambers.

PARIS, December 1.—The sitting of the chamber of deputies was resumed at 8:30. M. Rouvier ascended the tribune and announced that he had communicated to M. Grevy the vote of the chamber on the order of the day. This communication, said M. Rouvier, caused the president to modify his resignation. He had never intended to enter into a conflict with parliament, and would therefore send a message to the chamber [illegible] explaining [illegible] his decision. Rouvier added that the president declined to accept the resignation of the cabinet, which therefore resumed its functions. M. Rouvier's statement was greeted with cheers. The chamber adjourned till 2 p. m. to-morrow.

Feeling in Paris.

PARIS, December 1.—There was a big demonstration in front of the Russian embassy to-day, the crowd shouting "Vive la Russie." The police dispersed the gathering.

The excitement in the city is intense. A mob [illegible] in front of the Palace of the Elysee and are crying for the president to resign. Troops guard the entrance to the palace. Considerable [illegible] of the Palais Bourbon [illegible] demonstrative that cavalry were obliged to charge them. A number of members of the chamber of deputies are in favor of impeaching M. Grevy if his resignation is not announced when the sitting is resumed.

M. Paul de Roulede and Louis Michael have been arrested. Crowds continue to flock to the Elysee and a revolutionary demonstration is expected.

When DeRoulede left the chamber he proceeded to the Hotel DeVille, followed by a large crowd, whom he harangued, calling for cheers for Grevy. The police dispersed the crowd, but DeRoulede refused to go. He was arrested but released, and proceeded to the office of the Intransigeant to write a protest against the action of the police.

A Day of Excitement.

CHICAGO, December 1.—The Daily News' Paris cable says: M. Grevy has aroused the mobs of the faubourgs by refusing to resign. Grant at Sumter and the Paris garrison of 20,000 troops are encamped for duty. The assembly has passed through the most tumultuous day since the commune. The senate has sustained Grevy of high treason. Clemenceau and the radical Rochefort and the fenianists are agitating their rashness, and are shielding themselves behind the outcry that the "constitution is to blame." Reactionists are favoring Ferry because they see in him the most favorable instrument of their resistance to the republic. The Patriot league of 50,000 is almost in arms against Ferry, and the departments are thundering to preserve the constitution in Grevy. Foreign powers are looking on the growing turbulence with anxious eyes. The municipal government exhibit the resolution and capacity to repress any attempt at violence.

Such is the situation here to-night. Royalists describe it as comedy the radicals as tragedy. In the chamber of deputies this afternoon, the clamor without and the fear within ran so high that it was the belief that 50,000 people were gathered. At dusk everything like a mob was dispersed by mounted cavalry. No extravagance of pen or imagination how ever could exaggerate the tumult inside the Bourbon palace.

At 2 o'clock the chamber was packed. It was decided to adjourn till 4 o'clock and send word of this action to the president and force him to speak. Meantime the report was spread through Paris and a mob began to form. The great gates of the palace are closed, and a [illegible] of cavalry was placed on guard.

At 4 o'clock every seat was taken and embassadors, journalists, public officials and celebrities of all sort filled the galleries. The excitement passes description. M. Grevy has ignored the fact that the chamber is awaiting his pleasure. No one denies the gravity of the situation. From time to time reports [illegible] the chamber [illegible] that the mob is swelling."

Richefort, the grey Mephisto, talks excitedly, passing from group to group. "We have had nothing like it since the Commune," says he. The chamber cannot force Grevy to resign, but is trying to force him to some unconstitutional act which would give them ground to condemn him for treason. "We are in danger of a revolution." The mob [illegible] which [illegible] the "traitors to any measure that frighten him into resigning. It is all the fault of Ferry or [illegible] constitution. No constitution could be inferior to ours, and I would prefer even a monarchy."

M. Rouvier announces that in view of the action of the two legislative bodies the president has decided to deliver his message to-morrow, and this information occasions another prolonged outbreak. At last the chamber agrees to adjourn but at last the chamber agrees to adjourn until to-morrow at 2 o'clock. Then there will be more excitement, possibly more trouble.

A dispatch from Rouvier called on Ben Langer this morning at the Hotel du Louvre. Six months have made a great change in his popularity. Still the ante room was filled with persons who wished to see him. After waiting an hour [illegible] he walked down the [illegible] with his hand on his pocket causing the [illegible] Hotel crowded members. My dear [illegible] said Boulanger, laying his hand on his shoulder, I don't mind [illegible] to disappear now as a criminal if [illegible] my party [illegible] Paris for public [illegible] Grevy [illegible] cause. Such appears to be the [illegible] Boulanger is yet ardently [illegible]

Late this evening a noisy demonstration was made in front of the Elysee. The Second was called without success. Subsequent editions of the journals announce that Grevy had determined to resign to-morrow.

De Roulede during one of the [illegible] recesses took occasion with [illegible] to denounce Rochefort [illegible] he added [illegible] from Rochefort and started for the Hotel de Ville. The police blocked the arrangements and arrested him.

Within a week the circulation of Rochefort's journal has run from [illegible] to 200,000. Friday he disposed the balance of his editions.

When the members of the cabinet left the Elysee in the morning Grevy said: Events of the past few days convince me that it is in the interest of the public that I should not resign. I have received five various parliamentary quarters communications asking me to remain in office. Therefore I think it my duty to return to my official functions.

Grevy at the conference with the ministers, alluding to the intrigues of Ferry, said: "It was all very artfully contrived, but the game is now apparent, and those who play it are in a hurry to eat at the presidential table, but they are going to be disappointed."

The Harper Trial.

CINCINNATI, December 1.—The Harper trial was resumed this morning, with W. Wilshire on the stand. His testimony [illegible] Harper in the Chicago market about twenty million bushels of wheat, of which they were holding fourteen million bushels when the crash came last June. The loss represented by the break of their corner was from three to four million dollars. In every way he made it clear that Harper was his principal, that his checks on the Fidelity bank were not against any balances there to his credit and that he was given to understand they were to be protected by Harper. On cross-examination the fact was elicited that Wilshire had deposited checks aggregating three hundred thousand dollars on the First National bank of this city, and ninety-five thousand on the Merchants' bank, with the Fidelity, where they were to be used as cash. He had not that [illegible] in those banks at the time the checks were drawn, but he did it because he was instructed so to do by Harper, whom he supposed to be abundantly able to take care of the checks. Recess was then taken till afternoon.

[illegible] and Cashier.

WASHINGTON, December 1.—The twenty-fifth annual report of the comptroller of the currency shows that the total number of national banks organized up to the 31st of October was 3,805, 635 have gone into voluntary liquidation, 119 have failed, leaving in operation at that date 3081. The total number of new banks opened during the year is 225, the total number closed 83, of which 25 went into voluntary liquidation and eight failed. The net increase in national bank capital for the year is $30,572,935.

There is a net decrease of $50,495,591 in circulation represented by bonds. Very full [illegible] have been collected about state banks, savings banks, loan and trust companies and private banks and bankers throughout the country.

The [illegible] by the [illegible] to amendments to the law are set forth at considerable length. The most important change recommended is that the minimum of bonds to be deposited as security for circulation shall be 10 per cent of the capital of banks of not over $250,000 and $25,000 for banks of which the capital exceeds $250,000. He also recommends that national bank notes be counted as a part of the lawful reserve of the banks. The existing provisions of the law as to the responsibility of the officers and directors of banks are modified so as to avoid the existing of evade of their prompt and certain enforcement. The restriction upon banks as to making loans in excess of 10 per cent of their capital to one party is modified in respect to loans upon collateral security, and the total limit to 20 per cent of the capital and surplus. The provision as to state taxation of national banks is also modified.

Lynching Bee at Atascosa.

ATASCOSA, December 1.—The city is all excitement over a lynching bee which occurred last night, a worthless old tramp being the subject. His crime was the most hideous known to man and his victim, a young girl named Alice McGregor, is now hovering at the point of death, suffering from the brutality of his assault. Miss McGregor and her sister, who are highly respected young ladies live alone in the suburbs. One of them had occasion to be absent night before last on a business trip out of town leaving her sister alone in the house. In the middle of the night the girl was awakened by a noise in her room, and discovered the villian O'Brien in the act of coolly lighting the lamp. He had gained entrance by picking the lock of the door with a wire. The poor girl at first thought his object was burglary, and when she discovered his real purpose she endeavored to save herself by offering [illegible] money. The villain however refused, and set upon his victim. A long struggle ensued. Miss McGregor fought as long as she could, she was terrible bruised, and it is thought she will die. O'Brien was caught and lodged in jail, but the people of Atascosa without one known dissenting voice, organized a party and took him to [illegible]

Prohibition Convention.

CHICAGO, December 1.—The national prohibition convention met this morning at Battery D. Business of the national committee was not all transacted yesterday and the subject under discussion was the appointment of delegates to the nominating convention. A resolution was passed that representation in the national convention in no shall be on a basis of twice as many delegates from each state and territory as to present it at congress these delegates to be elected by such methods as may be decided upon by the state committee. The entire day was taken up with the discussion of topics. The conference was brought to a close to-night by a grand mass meeting at Battery D. J. B. Hobbs presiding.

Earthquake Shock.

LONDON, December 1.—A shock of earthquake was felt in Chorley, county of Lancaster, at seven o'clock this morning. A rumbling noise accompanied the shock. Buildings shook and people left their houses greatly frightened. No serious damage was done.

NEW YORK, December 1.—The Denver and Rio Grande directors to-day declared a dividend of 1½ per cent and 1 per cent in scrip on preferred stock.

Garfield Statue Unveiled.

CINCINNATI, December 1.—The Garfield bronze statue by Nichaus was unveiled this afternoon before the immense concourse of people. A daughter of Mayor Smith pulled the cord that loosed the veil and revealed the statue. This performance was greeted with [illegible] cheers. The statue is of heroic size and stands upon a tall granite base midway of the intersection of Eighth and Race streets. The preliminary ceremonies began at 1 o'clock and consisted of a speech at Music hall by Hon. Ezra Taylor, [illegible] in congress from Garfield's district, and a procession from Music hall to the [illegible], in which [illegible] societies and militia took part.

CINCINNATI, December 1.—The statue was by N[illegible], and paid for by popular subscription. The unveiling was [illegible] at Music hall Ezra H. Taylor, Garfield's [illegible] in congress from the 19th Ohio district, was the orator of the day and in a brief address full of forcible points touching the remarkable career of the martyred president. Governor Foraker and Samuel F. Hunt of Cincinnati also spoke. Letters of regret containing glowing tributes to the worth of Garfield were read from a number of distinguished men. Among them were Governor Buckner of Alabama, Wayne MacVeagh, Robt. T. Lincoln, Thos. Jones, Abram S. Hewitt, Samuel J. Randall, ex-President Hayes and Hon. John Sherman. A large [illegible] then marched to the statue, which was unveiled by the daughter of Mayor Smith.

Judge Macon Resigns.

DENVER, December 1.—Judge Macon, one of the supreme court commissioners, to-day handed Governor Adams his resignation, which was accepted. It is reported Macon resigned for the purpose of becoming attorney in the Bush appeal case, now before the court. Governor Adams to-night said he had not yet decided upon his successor, but it would be some person outside of the city of Denver.

LATER.—The governor this afternoon appointed Judge A. H. De France, of Golden, supreme court commissioner, to succeed Macon resigned. De France to-night wired his acceptance to the governor.

Corporations Pinched.

NEW YORK, December 1.—A Montreal special says: The Grand Trunk railway and the Allan line of steamships have fallen out and if the difficulty is not soon settled, after December 29 the Allan steamships will run on a former occasion, quit running to Portland and make Baltimore their winter terminus. It appears that the point in dispute is the proportion of freight [illegible] which each shall get the steamship company claiming a larger proportion than the railway people are willing to grant. Representatives of both companies have been conferring for days without arriving at a settlement.

The Cow[illegible] Ireland.

DUBLIN, December 1.—At a meeting of the corporation to-day Lord Mayor Sullivan stated that his name had been omitted in the commission which is to open the assizes to-morrow. He believed the omission to be illegal, and intended to accompany the judges to the court. Sexton high sheriff of Dublin said he would also accompany the judges and if Sullivan was refused a seat on the bench he (Sexton) would leave the court and would [illegible] in any order to [illegible]

BLACK CHURCH [illegible] EATING ROOM

[illegible] Daily, [illegible] Day, 25c 10c

[illegible] Fine Oysters [illegible]

Judge E. A. Smith, of Fountain, attended the [illegible] of the district court yesterday.

Lewis James as Hamlet and Miss Marie Wainwright as Ophelia at the opera house this evening.

Messrs. John Pring and Alonzo Welty, two prominent Husted ranchmen, were in Colorado City today.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union telegraph office for E. S. Williams and Ashley Stubbs.

Mr. A. S. Johnson, general tax commissioner of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, registered at The Antlers yesterday.

All members of the petit jury were excused from [illegible] further attendance at the present term of the district court.

In the district court yesterday morning arguments of counsel in the case of Inman versus Knowles were heard and the case taken under advisement.

Mr. Granville Arnold and Miss Nolia Crisoker (colored) were married at the parsonage of the First Methodist church last evening by the Rev. A. C. Peck.

The regular weekly meeting of the Phœnix lateracy society will be held this evening in the college chapel at half past seven o'clock. The public are cordially invited.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Milhoan will take place at the family residence on West Known street, Parrish's addition, this afternoon, at one o'clock. Friends of the family are invited.

Mr. C. W. Pigbee, of Denver, western agent for the sale of Mr. Thomas A. Edison's mimeograph and improved phonograph was in this city yesterday and registered at The Antlers.

Chief Ferrin has asked us to request every member of the fire department having in his possession a rubber coat, boots, helmet or any other property of the department to return the same to the city hall immediately.

Dewey County surveyor J. S. Luckraft left for Leadville yesterday afternoon to begin the surveying of the county roads in that county in which changes have been enforced by the board of county commissioners.

Yesterday Contractor Robe removed the entire roof from the county jail preparatory to building the recently ordered addition. The five prisoners who are serving out sentence in the building will be furnished quarters in the city jail for several days.

The Hoyt Realty company has taken the small brick room at No. 4 North Tejon street, [illegible] the First National bank building through Mr. A. H. Corman, and Mr. J. W. Miller [illegible] Mr. Miller will occupy the room as an office.

In the case of Blackstone against Stubbs, in which the defendant in the latter was found guilty of larceny, a motion for a new trial has been made. At the motion is granted the receiver for the property will be retained, but if refused the receiver, Mr. A. [illegible] will cease.

Mr. C. L. Cass has made special preparations for the holiday season. He has purchased a large quantity of Navajo blankets, and for sale together with a choice stock of native and Mexican fancy jewelry. His stock of furs rugs, robes, etc., etc., is the largest which he has had for several years.

A regular election of Pike's Peak lodge No. 38, I. O. O. F. was held last evening, with the following [illegible]. Noble grand A. H. White, vice grand J. H. Hodgkiss, recording secretary H. G. McCleary, financial secretary, J. D. Rhodes, treasurer, George B. Southworth.

Mr. David Anders and Miss Annie [illegible] were married at the home of the bride's parents, [illegible] West Bijou street, by the Rev. J. S. Rose, in the presence of a number of their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Anders left the following day in the afternoon, where they will remain a few days after which they will be home at [illegible] Mrs. J. M. Glasscock's, east of Cascade.

The annual meeting of Pike's Peak colonists [illegible] was held last evening and the following officers were elected and appointed: [illegible] commander, A. D. Alvord; vice commander, A. L. Stewart; captain general, J. V. Hamilton; [illegible] Thomas Hughes; [illegible] Sanders; D. J. Eaton, junior warden; D. F. Dorsey, treasurer, A. Mathews, recorder.

Yesterday morning a small fire [illegible] for the purpose of [illegible] the room occupied in the city hall, which was subsequently suspected by the local officials to [illegible] Chief Collins [illegible] Chief Collins [illegible] the origin of the fire. The [illegible] work was constantly interfering with his private practice. He will hereafter devote his sole time to the latter.

At the opera house next Monday night Miss Minnie Maddern will appear before a Colorado Springs audience with whom she is deservedly popular in her strong and romantic play. In Spite of All. Her acting is described as the perfection of art in its artlessness and simplicity. "So natural and unaffected it appeals to the kindred feeling in every one's breast. Her voice is low, rich and sympathetic, and in the few strains she sang she revealed a sweetness and depth of feeling that was entrancing." [illegible] The audience was more than pleased with Miss Maddern and the American stage is to be congratulated that it has a representative young player individuality, playing as a child in which [illegible] vividly and she [illegible] The people who can appreciate the highest type of dramatic art we feel like commending Miss Maddern as the best representative in her chosen field now before the public. When it is considered that the play gives opportunity for the display of excellent ability in the supporting company, it may well be called strong enough to [illegible]

There was a merry time on the school house at the fair [illegible] the benefit of the Sisters of St. Francis last night at Society hall last evening. The number present was even larger than that of the preceding evening. A limited programme of entertainment was rendered and the evening was pleasantly spent by those present. Considerable interest was manifested in the voting for the most popular performer of the [illegible] ment for the gentlemen [illegible] At the close of the fair last evening the vote stood: J. R. Corman, [illegible] Walter L. Woodbury [illegible] Mrs. Helen Decker was [illegible] The voting contest for the coveted [illegible] have been [illegible] have [illegible] to be raffled off. The [illegible] to be raffled off. The present scoring [illegible] cloth can be seen at [illegible] from it free of charge by Mr. Sullivan. The [illegible] The fair [illegible] of this week will receive support to all who [illegible] in the evening.
